

Emmanuel Komlan Tengue

As a determined and self-motivated student, I defied all odds and graduated from Ntruboman Senior High School as the School's overall best student in the West African Senior School Certificate Examination in the year 2013.

I subsequently gained admission into University of Ghana Business School in September 2013 where I pursued Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (Accounting). I successfully graduated from University of Ghana in July 2017. I hope to pursue my graduate studies in Economics or Finance.

Whilst in school I volunteered at University Studies Abroad Consortium-Ghana (USAC) for a year and half as a Student Assistant.

I aspire to be a Chartered Accountant with a strong background in Economics and Finance and hope to be a Social Entrepreneur with focus on creating employment in the rural areas of Ghana by commercializing economic activities of the rural dwellers with priority in agriculture. My aim is also to work for the United Nations, ECOWAS or African Union in the long term.
