

Garvin Akwolaga Tankeh

I joined the Educational Pathways International (EPI) family in the first year of my university education as a Business Administration student of University of Ghana. Before EPI embraced me, I had no idea where I was going to get funding despite the fact that I finished top of my class in the secondary school a year before. EPI enabled me see light at the end of my hitherto dark tunnel. With the support of EPI, I was able to cater for my school fees, feeding, learning materials and accommodation on campus. That timely intervention was very crucial to my academic and social life because it enabled me focus on my studies for excellence.

I would like to be a professional Accountant and Finance expert in future. That academic journey has just begun and it is on course, thanks to Educational Pathways International. In that regard, I intend improve the financial literacy of my community members by enlightening them and exposing them to the immense benefits of alternative sources of livelihood, savings and investment, budgeting, and a lot more. I believe that this would go a long way to improve their standard of living and ensure sustainable use of resources. I would gladly extend a helping hand to the many young people in my community, most especially those who feel so hopeless and low-spirited that they do not find life worth living anymore.