

Richard Kwame Osei

My name is Richard Kwame Osei. Some years ago, obtaining a Bachelor's degree was a mere dream with hopeless means. Thanks to the Educational Pathways International (EPI) for the support; I am now a graduate from the University of Ghana with a Bachelor of Science in Administration (Accounting).

Completing high school in 2012, I had to stay at home for some time and later resorted to paid internships to save for tertiary education until a friend recommended EPI. I applied, went through all interviews successfully, and four years down the line my dream has indeed become a reality.

EPI did not only support me financially but also provided a family on campus. The career training sections, internships and writing skills development has also put me at a position to face the job market.

Belonging to such a family was really remarkable. The coming together with and sharing of ideas and experiences of other beneficiaries, our benefactors, and our coordinator helped to correct weaknesses, to groom talents and acquire new skills have rekindled my drive to support the needy. I now have a stronger desire to help alleviate poverty from my community and beyond, thanks to EPI.

EPI has raised me from a level of hopelessness to a level full of hopes and I am now more purpose-driven than ever. I look forward to be further impacted by the EPI Alumni Association so together we can make a change in our society.
