

ASE SEIDU

Ase Seidu is my name, I am a Bachelor of Science, Nursing graduate from the University for Development Studies, Tamale in the northern part of Ghana. It's with so much joy and gratitude, first to God Almighty and second to Educational Pathways International (EPI) scholarship scheme for the massive support offered me throughout my years of study. My three (3) years with the Educational Pathways International has by far been the most exciting years of my life. Aside the immense financial support from Educational Pathways International which was a great relief for me and my family during these years, the coaching, mentoring and grooming that I that I received from EPI has impacted my personal and professional life so much that I stand tall among my co-equals wherever I find myself. The confidence Educational Pathways International bestowed in me by investing in me always pushed me to be a better person than my former self, and that is how far this has brought me.

Caring for others is a virtue that is even preached by the Holy books. I get so much satisfaction from helping people in their weakest state. It is on this basis that I chose to become a Nurse. I wake up every morning knowing I am a step closer to my career goals and desires. And I am committed to those goals and desires.

Hopefully, in the coming years I will have my post graduate studies that will give me a qualification to enter the tertiary educational sector to help tutor and train competent Nurses and other healthcare professionals.

With the support and experience I had with the EPI, I will wish same for every brilliant and needy student and as such, as an alumnus of the EPI, I wish to set up a miniature form of a support group to help the needy and brilliant children in my community and also pledge to support EPI in any little way I can to help this course.

Long Live Educational Pathways International.

Long Live Ghana.
