

ANIM TIJANI MOHAMMED

Anim Tijani Mohammed is my name, a beneficiary of Educational Pathways International (EPI). I joined the Scholarship program at the early stage of my tertiary education at the University of Ghana, specifically in the business school in 2016. I offered BSc Administration of which I specialized in Accounting.

Educational Pathways International presented me with a great opportunity to pursue my degree program successful. EPI catered for me through my four-year stay at the university by awarding me a full scholarship. This support really impacted my academic performance by relieving me of financial hurdles and also setting a benchmark for my performances. The benchmark given, always encouraged me to study harder to meet these requirements. It also gave me standards to evaluate myself academically.

The scholarship opportunity offered me with a platform to meet my academic goals of achieving a high class, which I can boldly which has been materialized.

My career goal is to become a Certified Chartered Accountant within the next few years. This influenced my decision to pursue a degree in Accounting at the University of Ghana Business School. Moreover, I am currently an ACCA student, done with the part 1 of the qualification. I aim to finish this professional course by the end of my national service.

Within the scope of Accounting and in my capabilities, will contribute to my community and in Ghana at large by assisting small and medium scale enterprises struggling with their Accounting systems and business structures. This is a critical issue I experienced under my several internship programs which I will like to address.

I would also like to express my utmost appreciation to the Educational Pathways International (EPI) for its great support it provided for me and other beneficiaries across the nation Ghana. They made university education possible for me and I am grateful about that. I say a very big thank you to EPI.
