

ASIMAH DRAMANI

My name is Asimah Dramani, a fourth year Architecture student of Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology (KNUST).

My dream to become an Architect started when I was in High School. I was inspired to contribute to the development of the built environment through sustainable design and construction methods. However, this zeal and passion was diminishing due to the cost involved in studying the Architecture Program. This is because my family could not afford the fees throughout the program.

With the spirit of hope and hard work, I took an application form at KNUST and I was offered admission to study my dream program. But the financial challenges remained an obstacle. As the son of a single mum, I thought all hope was lost until Educational Pathways International (EPI) came to my rescue.

With this scholarship package my school fees, accommodation, books and stipend are catered for. This has relieved me of financial difficulties, giving me the free mind to study for higher academic goals. My family has been relieved by this huge financial burden.

The impact of Educational Pathways International on the lives of each and every scholar is life changing and transformation. Attending regular meetings every semester, we are trained in areas such as Leadership skills, Public Speaking, Time Management and Planning, Entrepreneurship, preparing and sitting for Interviews, CV preparations. Through Public Speaking training, I can now do presentation confidently without any difficulty which was actually a problem during my first year at the university. During our monthly meetings and seminars, we interact as family and scholars who have common goals and visions for societies that we all work hard to pursue.
