

ELIDAD OFOSU ADDO

I joined Educational Pathways International (EPI) family at a point in my life where I had a blurry future with regards to my studies in the university but through the support and training I had from EPI, I have been able to complete my undergraduate studies successfully.

Through our monthly EPI family meetings and trainings I have become an all-rounded student excelling in every field I find myself.

My name is Elidad Ofosu Addo, I read Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and Chinese at the University of Ghana. Aside graduating with a first class honors, I completed my undergraduate program being a three-time winner of the prestigious Chinese Ambassador's Award for Brilliant Student in the Chinese section of the Modern Languages Department in University of Ghana as well as the 2020/21 ambassador for the University of Ghana Plastic Recycling Project which contributes to the Sustainable Development Goal 6.

I chose to read Chinese at the University of Ghana due to the increase trade relations between Africa and China and the need to understand the various cultural difference that emerge as a result of this relationship. I chose to add Political Science to my Chinese language and culture studies because it would give me a better understanding of the geopolitical environment I found myself in.

In order to give back to my school and country at large, I am serving as a Teaching Assistant at the University of Ghana Political Science Department to help other students understand the courses that are thought in order for them to also excel academically. Due to my interest in protecting the environment as well as sanitation, I also look forward to championing sanitation in my community using the recycling approach which will help improve sanitation as well as create employment in my community.

I plan to read a master's program either in Public Administration or International Business in order to give me a solid ground for the business world since I would want to venture into Agribusiness in the near future.

I am very grateful to Educational Pathways International for giving me the opportunity to having a sound mind to study. For your contributions toward my academic journey and successes, I say God bless you.
