

DR. ENYONAM MANSAH GASU

I am Enyonam Mansah Gasu. I pursued MBChB Medicine and Surgery at the Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology Kumasi, Ghana. The Educational Pathways International (EPI) Scholarship Program has had a profound impact on my life, academics, and career goals since I became a beneficiary of the programme. I am immensely grateful for the opportunities provided by EPI Scholarship and the support it has given me.

Since becoming a part of EPI Scholarship Program, my life has witnessed a remarkable transformation. The financial assistance and mentorship provided by the programme alleviated the burden of educational expenses, allowing me to focus on my studies without worrying about financial constraints. Additionally, the program's emphasis on personal development has honed my leadership and communication skills, enabling me to become a more confident and well-rounded individual.

My passion for ophthalmology stems from a fascination with the intricacies of the human eye and a deep desire to restore and preserve vision. William Shakespear once said, 'the eyes are the window to your soul'. This goes to emphasise the importance of vision in our lives as humans. As I pursue my journey to become an ophthalmologist, my ultimate career goal is to provide comprehensive eye care and contribute to the advancement of ophthalmic research and treatment modalities in Ghana.

The EPI Scholarship Programme has instilled in me a deep sense of social responsibility and a commitment to serving my community. Looking ahead, I envision a future where I can actively contribute to the improvement of eye health in Ghana. I intend to collaborate with local healthcare institutions, non-profit organizations, and government agencies to establish sustainable eye care programs, particularly in underserved regions. By raising awareness about eye health, providing access to quality eye care services, and promoting preventive measures, I aim to reduce the prevalence of avoidable blindness and visual impairments in my community and across Ghana.

In conclusion, I express my deepest gratitude to EPI Scholarship Programme for its unwavering support and guidance, and I am determined to honour this privilege by dedicating myself to the advancement of eye health, the provision of compassionate care, and the empowerment of individuals in Ghana.
