

KELVIN NKETSIAH SARFO

Hello there! I'm Kelvin Nketiah Sarfo, a proud graduate of Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology (KNUST) in Ghana. My academic journey led me to pursue a BSc. Business Administration with a specialization in Accounting, and I'm happy to share that I graduated with flying colours, securing a First Class Honours.

My experience with Educational Pathways International (EPI), which began during my second year at the university, played a pivotal role in shaping both my academic and social aspects of life. Academically, EPI became the catalyst for my growth, exposing me to soft skills and offering a plethora of other invaluable lessons. Remarkably, I witnessed a positive shift in my end-of-semester results, thanks to the financial relief EPI provided, allowing me to focus more on my studies without the added burden of work.

On the social front, EPI opened doors for me to connect with ambitious peers amongst fellow EPI beneficiaries at KNUST, fostering a community of like-minded individuals who continue to inspire and challenge me.

Looking ahead, my aspirations are set on becoming a Professor in Finance. To achieve this dream, I plan to further my education by pursuing MSc. and MPhil. Degrees in Finance, and finally, a PhD. My ultimate goal is to contribute meaningfully to my community and Ghana as a whole by conducting impactful research on socio-economic issues and also supporting life-changing scholarship programs.

I owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to the EPI community for the transformative impact it has had on my life. Words fall short in expressing my appreciation, but I extend heartfelt blessings to everyone who played a role in making EPI scholarships a reality and changing lives. GOD bless you all!
